NEW HAMPSHIRE DELEGATES

TO

NATIONAL POLITICAL CONVENTIONS.

Throughout the first half century of the history of the United States, the candidates for President and Vice-President were named by Congressional caucus or other method without the intervention of a National Political Convention.

The first convention for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President was the Anti-Masonic Convention, held in Baltimore in September, 1831, at which William Wirt, of Maryland, was nominated for President, and Amos Ellmaker, of Pennsylvania, for Vice-President. At this convention New Hampshire was represented by one delegate, Caleb Emery, of Lyman. Other conventions followed. Congressional dictation and other assumed authority in the selection of candidates was succeeded by the more democratic method of selection of candidates by delegates chosen for that purpose. During the past sixty years the political parties of this state have been represented in National Nominating Conventions as follows:

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS. — 1788-1892.

In 1788, the voters of New Hampshire for the first time gave in their votes for five electors of President and Vice-President of the United States. The election was holden under a special act of the Legislature, approved December 10, 1788, calling an election on the third Monday of December. The returns of the election were laid before the joint convention of the Senate and House of Representatives on the first Wednesday of January, 1789, and a declaration was made as appears in the following table. In the special act calling and directing the election in 1792, the Governor and Council were directed to canvass the vote for electors instead of the joint convention. In other particulars the act closely resembled the act of 1788. By terms of the act the election was holden on the last Monday of August. None of the candidates received a majority of the votes, and a second election was holden November 12 following. At the second trial only the twelve persons receiving the highest number of votes at the first election were eligible as candidates. By a special act approved June 16, 1796, the third election in this state was holden on the first Monday in November, and the joint convention was directed to canvass the vote on or before the fourth Thursday in November.

In 1800, the Legislature took a new departure and directed the Legislature to choose six electors. No general election was called. In 1804, the election was holden the first Monday, and in 1808 the first Friday, and in 1812, 1816, and 1820 the first Monday in November. These elections were each holden under a special act enacted for that purpose.

In 1824, the Legislature for the first time passed a general law controlling the election of that and of succeeding years. The election was to be holden on the first Monday in November, and in case of a failure to elect by the people, the Legislature was directed to complete the election.

By the provisions of an act of January 7, 1837, the Governor and Council were instructed to canvass and declare the vote, but the act was repealed before the succeeding election in 1840. In 1840, the election for the first time was holden the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. The joint convention of the Senate and House of Representatives continued to canvass the vote for electors until and including the election of 1852.

Under the provisions of the act of July 8, 1854, the Governor and Council were made a returning board, and to the present time have continued to canvass and declare the vote. The table exhibits the vote after corrections by the board of canvassers.

Since the adoption of a federal constitution there have been twenty-seven presidential elections. In the following exhibit appear the names of candidates for electors, the vote each candidate received, names of the successful candidates for President and Vice-President, and the vote of New Hampshire in each electoral college.

Federal Court Officers in New Hampshire.

JUSTICES OF THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT PRESIDING IN THIS CIRCUIT.

Until the passage of an act in 1869, which provided for the appointment of circuit judges, and practically established the present United States Circuit Court as a court distinct from the United States Supreme Court, the work of the present Circuit Court was done by the justices of the Supreme Court, each one being assigned to a circuit, and sitting during the intermissions of the Supreme Court. He usually sat together with the judge of the District Court for the district in which the Circuit Court was held.

The first Circuit Court of the United States for the district of New Hampshire was organized at Portsmouth, May 20, 1790, and presided over by John Jay, chief justice of the United States Supreme Court, who also held the next term, Nov. 20, of the same year. Judge Jay also appeared at the term in 1791, and again at the May term in 1792, but not afterwards.

The October term, in 1792, was presided over by James Wilson, of Pennsylvania, and James Iredell, of North Carolina, associate justices of the United States Supreme Court. Associate Justice William Cushing, of Massachusetts, also frequently held this court. The stated terms have been held by the following named judges: Samuel Chase, John Pickering (district judge), Chief Justice Oliver Ellsworth, Associate Justice William Patterson, John Lowell, chief justice in 1801 (the ancestor of the present Judge Lowell, of Massachusetts), Jeremiah Smith, and Benjamin Bourne, circuit judges, and John S. Sherburne, district judge. An attempt was made by Congress under the administration of John Adams, in 1801, to establish a Circuit Court, and John Lowell, Jeremiah Smith, and Benjamin Bourne were appointed judges of such a court, but the court was abolished by Congress under the administration of Thomas Jefferson soon after Jefferson entered upon the duties of his office, and the work was done by the justices of the Supreme Court as before.

At the May term in 1812, Joseph Story, of Massachusetts, who had been appointed in November, 1811, and assigned to this circuit, appeared and held his first term. He continued to hold this court regularly from this time till his death. He was succeeded by Levi Woodbury, of New Hampshire, appointed Sept. 20, 1845, who held his first term Oct. 8 of the same year.

Judge Woodbury was succeeded by Benjamin Robbins Curtis, of Massachusetts, appointed Dec. 20, 1851, who presided until his resignation, Oct. 1, 1857. He held his first term in this district in October, 1852.

Judge Curtis was succeeded by Nathan Clifford, of Maine, who was appointed Jan. 12, 1858, and held his first court in this district in May, 1859.

The act of Congress of April 10, 1869, modified this system, and provided for the appointment of a circuit judge for each circuit, who should have the same power and jurisdiction therein as the justice of the Supreme Court had had before. But the system of allotting the justices of the Supreme Court among the circuits was continued until 1883, and the authority and duty of each of those justices to attend at least one term of the Circuit Court in each district of his circuit, during every period of two years, was expressly declared.

John M. Harlan, of Kentucky, commissioned Nov. 29, 1877, was assigned to this circuit in October, 1880, in addition to his own, and continued therein until the appointment of Judge Clifford's successor, Horace Gray, of Massachusetts, who was appointed Dec. 20, 1881, and still retains his seat.

JUDGES OF THE UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT FOR THIS CIRCUIT.

The first Circuit Court was established, as mentioned above, in 1801, with John Lowell, Jeremiah Smith, and Benjamin Bourne as judges, but the act was repealed by Congress in March, 1802. From that time until the act of Congress of April 10, 1869, the terms of this court were presided over by the justices of the United States Supreme Court.

Under the act of 1869, George F. Shepley, of Maine, was, on the 22d of December, 1869, appointed judge for the first circuit, which included Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island. He held his first term in this district Oct. 8, 1870, and continued in this office until his death, July 20, 1878.

Judge Shepley was succeeded by John Lowell, of Massachusetts, appointed Dec. 18, 1878. Judge Lowell first came into this district, May 16, 1879.

Le Baron B. Colt, of Rhode Island, was appointed in 1884 to succeed Judge Lowell, and holds this office at the present time.

Under the act of Congress passed March 3, 1891, which provided for a Circuit Court of Appeals and an additional judge to each circuit, William L. Putnam, of Maine, was appointed March 17, 1892, and is now in office.

JUDGES OF THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

The District Court was organized Dec. 15, 1789, with John Sullivan, of Durham, as judge, appointed Sept. 26, 1789. He held office about five and a half years, and was succeeded by John Pickering, of Portsmouth, appointed in 1795. On one occasion, Jeremiah Smith, of Exeter, circuit judge, held the court on account of the illness of Judge Pickering.

Judge Pickering was succeeded in 1804 by John Samuel Sherburne, who held court from May, 1804, to 1830. The next incumbent of this office was Matthew Harvey, of Hopkinton, appointed Dec. 16, 1830, who served until his death. Judge Harvey was Governor of this state at the time of his appointment, and resigned that office in February, 1831, to accept the judgeship of the District Court. The vacancy caused by the death of Judge Harvey was filled by the appointment of Daniel Clark, of Manchester, July 27, 1866. Judge Clark held the office nearly twenty-five years, and until his death, when he was succeeded by Edgar Aldrich, of Littleton, the present incumbent, who qualified March 3, 1891.

CLERKS OF THE CIRCUIT COURT.

The first clerk of the Circuit Court was Jonathan Steele, of Durham, who was appointed Nov. 10, 1789. His successors were Richard Cutts Shannon, of Portsmouth, appointed May 1, 1804; George Washington Prescott, of Portsmouth, in 1814; Peyton Randolph Freeman, of Portsmouth, March 18, 1817; William Claggett, of Portsmouth, May 8, 1820; Samuel Cushman, of Portsmouth, March 10, 1825; Charles W. Cutter, of Portsmouth, March 13, 1826; John L. Hayes, of Portsmouth, after serving as assistant clerk, appointed clerk, May, 1841; Albert R. Hatch, of Portsmouth, Oct. 9, 1848; William H. Shurtleff, of Concord, was appointed Oct. 6, 1891, and holds the office at the present time.

During John L. Hayes's term of office, A. J. Penhallow was appointed assistant clerk and served during the busy times caused by the Bankrupt Act of 1841. Wallace Hackett, of Portsmouth, was appointed deputy clerk, May 30, 1879. Several others have served as assistants, but for short periods only.

CLERKS OF THE DISTRICT COURT.

From the organization of the United States courts in 1789, until 1847, the same person held both the offices of clerk of the Circuit Court and clerk of the District Court. In 1847, Charles H. Bartlett, of Manchester, was appointed clerk of the District Court. He was succeeded by Benjamin F. Clark, of Manchester, who qualified by taking the oath of office June 5, 1883. Fremont E. Shurtleff, of Concord, was appointed to this office Aug. 17, 1891, and holds the office at the present time.

The office of United States attorney for this district was first held by John Samuel Sherburne, of Portsmouth, who was appointed Sept. 26, 1789. He resigned Dec. 1, 1793, and was succeeded by Edward St. Loe Livermore, of Portsmouth, appointed Feb. 17, 1794. Jeremiah Smith, of Exeter, was appointed to this office in 1798, and resigned in 1801, to accept the office of circuit judge. John Samuel Sherburne was reappointed Jan. 26, 1802, and served until March, 1804, when he resigned to accept the office of district judge. Daniel Humphreys, of Portsmouth, succeeded him. JOINT RULES

OF THE

SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

1. When a convention of the two houses is to be formed, whether by a requirement of the constitution, or by a vote or resolve of the two houses, a message shall be sent from the house of representatives to the senate, giving notice when the house will meet the senate in convention. As soon thereafter as the convenience of the senate will permit, they will attend in the house. The speaker of the house shall be chairman of the convention, and shall state the reasons for forming the convention. When the house and senate are thus formed in convention, the rules adopted as the rules of the house shall be considered the rules of the convention, so far as they may be deemed applicable, and the convention shall accordingly be governed thereby.

2. Messages shall be sent by such person or persons as each house may deem to be proper.

3. Messages from either house shall be received by the other at all times, except when engaged in putting a question, in calling the yeas and nays, in counting the ballots, or in reading the journal.

4. When a message shall be sent from either house to the other, it shall be announced at the door of the house to which it may be sent, by the doorkeeper.

5. While bills are on their passage between the two houses, they shall be under the signature of the clerk of each house respectively.

6. There shall be a committee for the purpose of engrossing bills, consisting of two members of each house. All bills that pass both houses shall be delivered to said committee, be by them engrossed, carefully examined, and reported to the respective houses; and shall be signed first by the speaker of the house of representatives, and then by the president of the senate.

7. There shall be a committee, to consist of three members of the house and one of the senate, on each of the following subjects, to wit: On all matters relative to the state library, and on all matters relative to the state house and state-house yard.

8. Every bill or joint resolution, repealing or modifying any act or statute, shall refer to the same by the chapter, title, and section of the general laws, if contained therein, otherwise by its title and the session of the legislature when the same was passed, and shall also be expressed in words clearly, so that it shall not be necessary to refer to any other act or statute to ascertain the meaning thereof; and it shall be the duty of the presiding officer of each branch of the legislature to require all such bills and resolutions to be made in conformity therewith, before putting any vote thereon, except to commit or amend.

9. When a bill or resolve which shall have passed in one house is rejected in the other, notice thereof shall be given to the house in which the same shall have passed.

10. Each house shall transmit to the other all papers on which any bill or resolve may be founded.

11. Each house shall transmit to the other all bills which have passed their several stages in the house in which they originated, at least twenty-four hours before the time fixed for adjournment.

12. After each house shall have adhered to their disagreement, a bill or resolve shall be considered lost.

13. No bill, joint resolution, claim outstanding on the first day of the session, or petition relating to new business shall be received in either branch of the legislature after the fifth week of the session unless reported from a committee; provided, that this rule may be suspended in either house whenever two thirds of the whole number of members shall actually vote in favor thereof, and not otherwise.

RULES OF THE SENATE.

1. The president having taken the chair, and a quorum being present, the journal of the preceding day shall be read, and any erroneous entry shall be corrected.

2. No member shall hold conversation with another during the reading of the journal, or while a member is speaking in debate.

3. Every member, rising to speak, shall address the president, and when he has finished shall sit down.

4. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question, on the same day, without leave of the senate.

5. More than one member rising to speak at the same time, the president shall decide who shall speak first.

6. If any member transgress the rules of the senate, the president shall, or any member may, call him to order; — in which case the member so called to order shall sit down, and the senate, if appealed to, shall decide in the case; but if there be no appeal, the decision of the president shall be conclusive.

7. No member shall absent himself without permission from the senate.

8. A motion shall be seconded before it is debated, and, if required by the president or any member, it shall be reduced to writing.

9. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to postpone indefinitely, to lay on the table, to postpone to a certain day, to commit, or to amend, which several motions shall take precedence in the order in which they are arranged. And no motion to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a certain day, or to commit, being decided, shall be in order at the same stage of the bill or proposition until after an adjournment.

10. If the question under debate will admit of division, any member may have it divided; and in filling blanks, the longest time and the largest sum shall be put first.

11. When the reading of a paper is called for, and the same is objected to, it shall be decided by a vote of the senate, and without debate.

12. When the yeas and nays are required, each member shall declare his assent or dissent to the question, unless, for special reasons, he be excused by the senate.

13. When a motion is made to shut the doors of the senate, on the discussion of any business which in the opinion of any member may require secrecy, the president shall desire the gallery to be closed; and the doors shall remain closed until the subject is disposed of.

14. After a motion has been decided, it shall be in order for any member who voted with the majority, or, if the senate be equally divided, any member voting on the side prevailing, to move for a reconsideration thereof, unless the bill, resolution, report, amendment, or motion on which the vote was taken, has gone from the possession of the senate; but no motion to reconsider shall be in order unless made the same day on which the vote was taken, or the next day after that on which the vote was taken, on which the senate shall be in session.

15. Before any petition or memorial addressed to the senate shall be received and read, a brief statement of the contents thereof shall be made by the member introducing the same.

16. Any member, on giving notice of asking leave to bring in a bill, shall state the nature of the bill he proposes to introduce, and at least one day's notice shall be given before a motion for leave shall be in order.

17. Every bill shall be read three times before its passage, and the president shall give notice at each time whether it be the first, second, or third reading; and no bill, after it has been read a second time, shall have a third reading before an adjournment.

18. All resolutions which may require the signature of the governor shall be treated in the same manner as bills.

19. When a bill shall have been read a first time and ordered to a second reading, it shall be immediately read a second time by its title, and by the president referred to the appropriate standing committee, unless otherwise ordered by the senate.

20. All bills introduced in the senate, to repeal or modify an existing statute, shall refer to the act proposed to be repealed or modified by the title and the session at which it was passed; and no bill shall refer to any statutes by the number of the chapter of the pamphlet laws.

21. The senate may resolve itself into a committee of the whole at any time on motion made for that purpose; and in forming a committee of the whole, the president shall leave the chair, and appoint a chairman to preside in committee. The president may at any time name any member to perform the duties of the chair; but such substitution shall not extend beyond one legislative day.

22. The last question, upon the second reading of a bill or resolution, shall always be, Shall it be read a third time? — and no amendment shall be received or discussed on the third reading of any bill or resolution unless by consent of sixteen members present, but it shall all times be in order, before the final passage of a bill or resolution, to move its commitment; and should such commitment take place, and an amendment be reported, the bill or resolution shall again be read a second time, and considered as in committee of the whole.

23. The titles of bills, and such parts thereof as may be affected by proposed amendments, shall be entered on the journals.

24. All bills, resolutions, and addresses, after passing the senate, shall be signed by the president; and all warrants and other processes issued by order of the senate shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the clerk.

25. The following standing committees, to consist of five members each, shall be appointed at the commencement of any session, with leave to report by bill or otherwise: A committee on the judiciary; a committee on incorporations; a committee on labor; a committee on military affairs; a committee on roads, bridges, and canals; a committee on claims; a committee on railroads; a committee on banks; a committee on agriculture; a committee on manufactures; a committee on elections; a committee on education; a committee on finance; a committee on state prison and industrial school; a committee on asylum for the insane; a committee on revision of the laws; and a committee on towns.

26. All committees shall be appointed by the president, unless a member request that the appointment shall be by ballot, in which case it shall be so done.

27. When the senate shall concur with the house of representatives in the appointment of a joint committee, consisting of not more than five members of the house, two members shall be added on the part of the senate; but when more than five, three members of the senate shall be added.

28. Messages shall be sent to the house of representatives by the clerk of the senate.

29. Messages from the governor or house of representatives may be received at all times, except when the senate is engaged in putting the question, in calling the yeas and nays, in counting the ballots, or in reading the journal.

30. All questions shall be put by the president, and each member of the senate shall signify his assent or dissent by answering yea or nay. If the president doubts, or a division is called for, the senate shall divide. Those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats and stand till they be counted, and afterwards those in the negative shall rise and stand till they be counted. The president shall then rise and state the decision of the senate.

31. No person except the members of the executive, or members of the house of representatives and its officers, shall be admitted within the bar of the senate, except by invitation of the president, or some member with his consent.

32. The senate shall adjourn to meet at ten o'clock in the morning and three o'clock in the afternoon of each day, unless the senate shall otherwise order.

33. Motions to adjourn shall be decided without debate.

34. No standing rule of the senate shall be suspended unless two thirds of the members present vote in favor thereof, and no rule shall be rescinded unless one day's notice of the motion has been given and two thirds of those present vote therefor.

35. Every bill and joint resolution, except private acts, originating in the senate, which has been favorably reported upon by the committee having it in charge, shall be declared by the president laid upon the table, and the clerk directed to procure a sufficient number of printed copies thereof for the use of the senate; and that when said bills and joint resolutions are printed and distributed, the clerk shall cause a copy of the same to be laid on the president's table, and they shall be taken up in their order without motion, and disposed of in the same manner as they would have been had they not been declared laid on the table. And every bill or joint resolution so introduced shall be headed senate bill, or joint resolution, as the case may be.

RULES OF THE HOUSE.

OF THE DUTY OF THE SPEAKER.

1. The speaker shall take the chair at precisely the hour to which the house shall have adjourned, and shall immediately call the members to order.

2. He shall preserve decorum and order, may speak on points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose, and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the house by any two members.

3. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, to wit, "As many as are of opinion that [as the case may be] say Aye"; and after the affirmative vote is expressed, "Those of a contrary opinion say No." If the speaker doubts, or a division is called for, the house shall divide. Those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats and stand till they be counted, and afterwards those in the negative shall rise and stand till they be counted. The speaker shall then rise and state the decision of the house.

4. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting.

5. All committees shall be appointed by the speaker unless otherwise directed by the house.

6. The speaker shall designate to which of the standing committees all memorials, petitions, accounts, or other matters shall be referred, unless otherwise ordered by the house.

7. The speaker shall not be called upon to vote unless the house be equally divided, or unless his vote, if given to the minority, will make the division equal; and in case of such equal division the question shall be lost.

8. All acts, addresses, and joint resolutions shall be signed by the speaker; and all writs, warrants, or subpœnas, issued by order of the house, shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the clerk.

9. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries, the speaker, or chairman of the committee of the whole house, shall have the power to order the same to be cleared.

10. No person but the members and officers of the house, members of the council, and members of the senate, the secretary of the state, treasurer, and clerks of the senate, shall be admitted within the door of the representatives' chamber unless by invitation of the speaker, or some member of the house with the consent of the speaker, except in public hearings, parties, their counsel and witnesses, under the direction of the speaker.

11. The speaker shall have power to substitute any member to perform the duties of the chair, such substitution not to extend beyond one legislative day.

OF DECORUM AND DEBATE.

12. When any member is about to speak in debate, make a motion, or deliver any matter to the house, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address himself to the speaker.

13. If any member transgress the rules of the house, the speaker shall, or any member may, call him to order; in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, and the question of order shall then be distinctly stated from the chair; and in all cases where a member shall be called to order for uttering disrespectful words, upon the request of any member the words objected to shall be reduced to writing by the member so calling to order; after which the member so called to order may explain, and the question shall be open to debate, as in other cases, and decided by the speaker, whose decision shall be submitted to unless an appeal be made to the house, by a member, in which case the only question shall be, "Is the speaker's decision correct?" which shall be decided without debate. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he may proceed; if otherwise, and the case may require it, he shall be liable to the censure of the house.

14. In all cases the member first rising shall speak first. When two members rise at the same time, the speaker shall name the person to speak.

15. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question without leave of the house; nor more than once, until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken.

16. While the speaker is putting any question, or addressing the house, no one shall walk out of or across the house; nor in such case, or when a member is speaking, shall entertain private discourse; nor, while a member is speaking, shall pass between him and the chair; nor shall any member leave his seat while the yeas and nays are calling.

17. No member shall vote on any question in the event of which he is directly interested; nor in any case where he was not present when the question was put; nor sit upon any committee when he is directly interested in the question under consideration. In case of such interest of a member of a committee, the fact shall be reported to the house, and another person substituted on that question in his place.

18. Every member who shall be in the house when a question is put shall give his vote, unless the house, for special reason, shall excuse him.

19. No motion shall be debated until the same shall be seconded and stated from the chair; and when a motion shall be made and seconded, it shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the speaker or any member, and delivered in at the table, and read by the speaker, before the same shall be debated.

20. No petition shall be received by the house unless it be presented by a member thereof, and upon motion made for that purpose; nor until the substance of said petition be concisely minuted, and the name of the member, and the town he represents, recorded upon the back thereof; and it shall be the duty of the speaker, whenever any motion relative to a petition is to be stated to the house, to state, in the first place, the substance of the petition as minuted on the back thereof.

21. After a motion is stated by the speaker, it shall be in possesion of the house, but may be withdrawn at any time before an amendment.

22. When any question is under debate, no motion shall be received, but, first, to adjourn; second, to lay on the table; third, for the previous question; fourth, to postpone indefinitely; fifth, to postpone to a certain day; sixth, to commit; and seventh, to amend; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged. Motions to adjourn, to lay on the table, and take from the table, shall be decided without debate.

23. The speaker shall put the previous question in the following form: "Shall the main question now be put?" and all debate upon the main question shall be suspended until the previous question has been decided. After the adoption of the previous question, the sense of the house shall forthwith be taken upon pending amendments, in their regular order, and then upon the main question.

24. On the previous question no member shall speak more than once without leave; and all incidental questions of order, arising after a motion for the previous question, shall be decided without debate, excepting on appeal, and on such appeal no member shall be allowed to speak more than once without leave of the house. No member shall be allowed to speak more than five minutes on the motion, nor on appeal on questions of order.

25. If the previous question is decided in the negative, it shall not be again in order till after adjournment, but the main question shall be left before the house and disposed of as though the previous question had not been put.

26. When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not be acted upon during the session except by unanimous consent.

27. Any member may call for a division of the question when the sense will admit of it; and upon a motion to amend, a refusal to strike out words shall neither preclude amendment to such words nor a motion to strike out and insert.

28. A motion for commitment, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendment to the main question, and all motions and reports may be committed at the pleasure of the house.

29. No new motion shall be admitted, under color of amendment, as a substitute for the motion under debate.

30. No vote shall be reconsidered, unless the motion for reconsideration be made by a member who voted with the majority, nor unless the notice of such motion be given on the same day on which the vote passed, or on the next day on which the house shall be in session, between the hours of ten and twelve o'clock.

31. When the reading of a paper is called for and objected to by any member, it shall be determined by a vote of the house.

32. Any member may excuse himself from serving on any committee at the time of his appointment, if he is then a member of two other committees who have not reported.

33. Each member shall seasonably and punctually attend to his duty in the house, and no one shall absent himself from the service of the house unless he have leave, or be sick and unable to attend.

34. The speaker shall appoint a teller for each division of the house, whose duty it shall be to report to the chair the state of the vote, whenever a division of the house is called for.

It shall be the duty of the committee on county affairs to consider all applications for the alteration of county lines or the creation of new counties, the salaries of county officers, the settlement of paupers, and all other matters relating to county affairs that may be referred to them by the house, and report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on labor to consider all petitions relating to labor and wages, and all other matters relating thereto that may be referred to them by the house, and report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on the asylum for the insane to examine all accounts, particularly of those relating to the expenditure of moneys appropriated by the state; to examine in relation to the rules and government of the institution, and all matters of general interest connected therewith, and all such matters as shall be referred to them by the house, and to report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on railroads to consider all petitions for the incorporation of railroads, for alterations, and all matters relative thereto that may be referred to them by the house, and to report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on roads, bridges, and canals to consider all applications for the incorporation of turnpikes, bridges, or canals, and for the alteration of tolls, and all matters relative thereto that may be referred to them by the house, and to report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on unfinished business to examine and report, from the journals of the last session, all such matters as were then pending and undetermined.

It shall be the duty of the committee on mileage to ascertain the distance traveled by each member of the house, computing the same by the nearest traveled highway, and report to the house, with the names of the several members and the distance traveled by each.

It shall be the duty of the committee on fisheries and game to consider all matters concerning the location, growth, cultivation, protection, improvement, and preservation of fish and game within the state, and all matters relative thereto which may be referred to them by the house, and make such report thereon, either by bill or otherwise, as they think the interest of the state requires.

It shall be the duty of the committee on the industrial school to examine in relation to the rules and government of the institution, and all matters of general interest connected therewith, and all such matters as may be referred to them by the house, and make such report, either by bill or otherwise, as they think the interest of the state requires.

It shall be the duty of the committee on forestry to consider all matters relating to the forests of the state and public parks, and to report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on public health to consider all matters relating to the health of the inhabitants of the state and vital statistics, and to report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on printer's accounts to examine and adjust all accounts against the state for printing, and every subject relating to such accounts that may be referred to them by the house, and to report thereon.

It shall be the duty of the committee on military accounts to examine, adjust, and report on all accounts relative to the militia that may be referred to them by the house.

It shall be the duty of the committee on claims to audit, adjust, and report on all accounts and claims that may be presented for allowance, except accounts for printing, military accounts, and accounts for engrossing bills.

It shall be the duty of the committee on journal of the house, from day to day, and before the commencement of the morning session, to examine the journal of the preceding day, and report to the house at once any imperfection they may observe; provided, however, that the journal of the preceding day shall be read at the opening of any morning session whenever requested by any ten members.

36. All other committees shall consist of three members, unless otherwise ordered.

37. The standing committees shall attend at their respective committee-rooms two hours before the meeting of the house in the morning, and at such other times as the house shall order; and no committee shall sit during the sitting of the house, unless when the speaker shall consider it necessary.

38. The first-named member of any committee appointed by the speaker of the house shall be chairman; and in case of his absence, or being excused by the house, the next named member, and so on, as often as the case may happen, unless the committee, by a majority of the number, elect a chairman. And when any committee shall report otherwise than by bill, they shall, if the subject admit of it, subjoin to their report a resolution making such disposition of the matter committed to them as to the committee shall seem expedient.

39. Whenever it shall not be convenient for any standing committee to attend promptly to all the business which may be properly referred to it, the speaker may, on a vote of the house to that effect, appoint an additional committee on the same subject, to consist of the same number of members as the original committee, whose duty it shall be to take into consideration all matters in relation to that subject which shall be referred to them by the house, and to report thereon.

ON BILLS.

40. Every bill and joint resolution shall be introduced by motion for leave, or by an order of the house on the report of the committee; and no bill or joint resolution shall be introduced by any member (except on the report of a committee) unless he shall have given at least one day's notice of intention, and of the object of the bill or joint resolution to be introduced.

41. Every bill and resolution originally introduced into the house shall be expressed in words clearly, so that it shall not be necessary to refer to any other act or statute to ascertain the meaning thereof.

42. Every bill shall have three several readings in the house previous to its passage. The first reading shall be for information; and thereupon, when the bill shall have been introduced by a committee, if not rejected or otherwise disposed of, a time shall be assigned for a second reading; and upon the second reading, if not rejected or otherwise disposed of by the house, a time shall be assigned for a third reading. When a bill shall have been introduced by a member upon leave, or by message from the senate, and read a first time, if it be not rejected or otherwise disposed of by the house, the question shall be "Shall the bill be read a second time?" And if ordered to a second reading it shall immediately be read a second time by its title, and be by the speaker referred to the appropriate standing committee, unless otherwise ordered by the house. No bill, after it has been read a second time, shall have a third reading until after an adjournment. The time assigned for the second and third readings of bills and resolutions shall be eleven o'clock in the forenoon and three o'clock in the afternoon, unless otherwise ordered by the house.

43. No amendment shall be made but upon the second reading of a bill or joint resolution; and all resolutions shall be in writing, with the name of the member and the town he represents on the back thereof. The orders of the day for the reading of bills and joint resolutions shall hold for every succeeding day until disposed of.

44. All bills, and all votes and resolutions that are necessary to be carried to the senate for their concurrence, may be sent by the assistant clerk.

45. Every bill shall be marked on the first page "house bill," and every joint resolution shall be marked "house joint resolution," and each bill and resolution shall be regularly numbered, beginning with No. 1, and continuing consecutively, as each bill or joint resolution is introduced into the house.

46. Every bill and joint resolution, except private acts, originating in the house, which has been favorably reported upon by the committee having it in charge, shall be declared by the speaker laid upon the table, and the clerk shall procure a sufficient number of printed copies thereof for the use of the house, and cause the same to be distributed to the members; and the clerk shall cause said bills and joint resolutions to be printed on paper of uniform size; and when said bills and joint resolutions are so printed and distributed, the clerk shall after one day cause the same to be laid on the speaker's table, and they shall be taken up in their order, without motion, and disposed of in the same manner as they would have been had they not been declared laid on the table.

OF THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE HOUSE.

47. The house may resolve itself into committee of the whole house at any time, on the motion of a member made for that purpose; and in forming a committee of the whole house the speaker shall leave the chair, and a chairman to preside in committee shall be appointed by the speaker.

48. Upon bills and resolutions committed to a committee of the whole house, the bill or resolution shall first be read throughout by the clerk, and then again read and debated by clauses, leaving the preamble of the bill to be last considered; the body of the bill or resolution shall not be defaced or interlined, but all amendments, noting the page and line, shall be duly entered by the clerk on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the committee, and so reported to the house. After report, the bill or resolution shall again be subject to be debated and amended by clauses, before a question to pass it to a third reading be taken.

49. The rules of proceeding in the house shall be observed in committee of the whole house, so far as they may be applicable, except the rule limiting the time of speaking.

50. No standing rule or order of the house shall be rescinded without one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; nor suspended, unless by a vote therefor of two thirds of the members present, to be ascertained by actual count, when any member shall request the same.

ORDER OF BUSINESS OF THE DAY.

51. The speaker shall call for petitions from members of the house. The petitions having been presented and disposed of, reports, first from the standing and then from the select committees, shall be called for and disposed of. And the above business shall be done in no other part of the day, except by permission of the house.

52. The unfinished business in which the house was engaged at the last preceding adjournment, if called for by any member, shall have the preference over all other business except the general order of the day; and no motion, or any other business except the general order of the day, shall be received without special leave of the house, until the former is disposed of.
